IS ARRANGING FOR ROAD WORK HERE

PROJECT ENGINEER GETTING READY FOR CONSTRUCTION

STARTS ABOUT MAY 1

Probably Only About Four Miles of Paving Will Be Completed This Year

G. G. Young, project engineer for the State Highway Department, is in Maryville this week, making arrangements for some of the preliminary work relative to the paving of the ten miles of road south of Maryville. Mr. Young will look after the state's interest in the building of this primary road.

Work on this road will start about May 1. The grading and the culverts will be done first and then the paving. It is thought that the paving work will not start before the last of July or August and that probably only four miles of the road will be paved before winter sets in this year. Then next spring and summer the balance of the ten miles will be completed.

Mr. Young is also looking after the hard surface road being built near Bethany. This work will not be completed before July and in the meantime he will divide his time between that work and the work at Maryville. After the Bethany road is completed, Mr. Young will be permanently located in Maryville until the work here is completed.

Mr. Young has been connected with the state highway department for the past year. Before that time he was with the Iowa highway department out of the Sioux City office.

COURT MUST PASS ON ROAD MEASURES

FINAL POWER IN DECIDING MANNER OF SUBMISSION

WOULD UNITE ALL THREE

Attorney-General Barrett Approves Letter Suggesting Proposals Be Made in Single Proposition

Jefferson City, April 25—Jesse W. Barrett, attorney-general today said that only the Supreme Court could say whether the three provisions to speed up Missouri's road building program could be legally submitted through one initiative proposal to the voters of the state. The court has never passed on the question, he said.

However, the attorney-general approved a letter prepared by Henry Davis, assistant attorney-general, in which a form was suggested for submitting the provisions in a single proposition.

The letter said the form suggested would be helpful, and since the Supreme Court has always given a liberal construction to such measures, it is believed it would "exercise the full limits of its discretion in upholding the measure proposed, if it be adopted."

A tax of 2 cents a gallon on gasoline, a 50 per cent increase in automobile license fees, and authority to issue a maximum of fifteen million dollars annually in road bonds, are the three provisions proposed to speed up the road program of Missouri.

CHARLES F. MURPHY DIED THIS MORNING

END COMES TO FAMOUS TAMMANY HALL LEADER.

WAS GREAT POLITICIAN

For Nearly Quarter Of Century, He Played Star Role On Country's Political Stage—65 Years Old.

New York, April 25.—Charles Francis Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, and for nearly a quarter of a century one of the most powerful Democratic leaders of the country, died shortly after 9 o'clock this morning.

Murphy was at Tammany Hall last night, and seemed to be in good physical condition. He held a number of conferences with Democratic leaders.

His death was due to acute indigestion.

His death on the eve of the Democratic national convention, due to assemble here in June, created a profound sensation in political circles. It had been universally expected—and conceded—that Murphy would play an important part in framing the Democratic National ticket for 1924.

History will record Charles Francis Murphy as one of Tammany's greatest leaders, and as a Democrat who, in his time, played a star role on the country's political stage for nearly a quarter of a century.

Murphy was within two months of being 66 years old. He was born June 20, 1858.

Washington, April 25.—The death of Charles F. Murphy was announced on the floor of the Senate this morning by Senator Royal S. Copeland, Democrat of New York, an honor which falls to few civilians.

New York, April 25—Greater New York paid Charles F. Murphy a tribute today such as is reserved for only the greatest of its citizens.

Flags on all city buildings were half masted at noon in his honor.

"His death will be universally deplored," said Mayor John F. Hylan. "Unquestionably he was one of the commanding influences for good produced by the organization which he headed."

New York, April 25—Charles F. Murphy ruled the Democratic organization in New York through his position as chairman of the executive committee of Tammany Hall. The executive committee, whose membership is large, is composed of the leaders of the various political districts of this city.

This commitee will meet at a date not yet set, to elect a new chairman.

Only a handful of Senators were on the floor when the amendment, which will reduce the amusement tax more than 33 million dollars, was adopted.

The amendment subjects admissions to a 1 per cent tax on each 10 cent ticket, but those costing at least 50 cents, are exempted.

RESTRAINING ORDER IS GRANTED TODAY

WOULD PROHIBIT BUILDING OF POND ON MAIN STRET.

GLOVER WILL UPHELD

Contestants File Motion for Rehearing —Savannah Man Selected Special Judge for Partition Suit.

A temporary restraining order to prevent William Everhart and Anna L. Everhart from building a large pond of water at the corner of First and Main streets was granted by Judge John M. Dawson in circuit court this morning on the application and petition of John G. Grems, R. S. Broyles, J. A. Ford and Ed Forsyth, property owners in the block of the Everhart plant. A hearing will be held within the next several days to decide whether the temporary restraining order should be made permanent.

In the application and petition of the property owners for an injunction, they state that Mr. Everhart intends to build a storage plant of water and a pond eight feet in the ground and forty feet in width and sixty feet in length will be built. In the operation of filling the pond with water and maintaining water therein, pipes or spouts will be used to convey the water therein and certain machinery will be used to force water through the pipes and the operation of such machinery will create loud, continuous and unusual noises and sounds. Also in the process of aeriating the water, continuous and constant streams of water will be ascending from and descending into the pond and will create noises and sounds. Then bugs and such other insects as are attracted to water, will gather and disease germs will be bred therein, and the water from the pond will be blown and carried to the neighboring premises and houses of the plaintiffs. The petition also claims that the homes will be ruined and greatly depreciated in value and will be unhealthful and unsafe in which to live.

In the will contest case of Sarah E. Rathbun, et. al. vs. Ada L. Hyland, et. al. the court held that the paper writing in evidence was the last will and testament of James A. Glover, deceased. The contestants file motion for rehearing.

5 Operations—15 years suffering with constipation—Kellogg's Bran restores health

Mr. Lancing's case is typical of thousands of others. He found permanent relief from constipation in Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read what he says:

Dear Sir:

I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in four different hospitals and submitted to five different operations that were the result of constipation. I was getting so bad that every meal I ate soured on my stomach. Two months ago I was advised to eat your Kellogg's Krumbled Bran. I tried it, as I was trying everything I could hear of. From that day on I have never taken a physic. My stomach does not sour any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening. Yours sincerely,
Frank Lancing,

Harry R. O'Brien says that such incidents give only a suggestion of what's wrong with our city produce marketplaces!

The farmer is too often shoved from the stall by the politician—the profiteering city retailer gets his place. He is pushed from the curb, even, by the odorous foreigner. City marketplaces are becoming dens of dirt and politics!

A few cities—mighty few!—are supporting real farmers' markets. Farmers have co-operated to own their markets in others, and so beat the game. Mr. O'Brien tells you the whole story in the series beginning next week.

What's doing now in the Northwest Wheat States? How's New England taking the cotton situation? Do acid soils really need lime? An installment of Zane Grey's "Wild Horse Mesa." The True Story of Woodrow Wilson

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

CHAPTER IV.

What Mr. Wilson Thought of His Contemporaries—Taft and Roosevelt —Their Methods of Dealing With Congress And His Own.

Woodrow Wilson was probably the only President of the United States who spent twenty years or more studying the power and duties of the Chief Executive long before he entered public life. The theory of government was his hobby. As a professor in Princeton University on constitutional government, his lectures were voted by the students year in and year out the most popular in the curriculum.

Little did I dream as I took notes with my classmates in the spring of 1909 that exactly four years later, the professor before us would be actually applying his doctrines of government in the White House and that I would be reporting them for the Associated Press.

What was said in the lecture room in those days was by common consent a private affair. Reporters were never present. And for that reason Dr. Wilson was as free with his comments on current news as if he were in the seclusion of his own home.

It was April 1909 and President Taft had just been inaugurated after a record-breaking vote. The new President was beginning to struggle with the tariff. Aldrich was in command of the United States Senate and Cannon was enthroned in the House of Representatives. Dr. Wilson would read to us a paragraph or two from the daily newspapers giving the gist of Washington dispatches on the legislative situation and would make his comments thereon.

"Nobody in Congress" he used to say again and again, "represents the nation's will. Every member of the House or Senate represents his district or his state—his section." The sum total of their desires is not the national will. Only one man, the Chief Executive, is responsible to all the people. He must assume leadership and determine what is best for all and not for one section or group or class. If President Taft appreciates that he will make headway. If he does not, he will fail"

Presently the dispatches from Washington announced that President Taft had summoned Messrs. Aldirch and Cannon and other Republican leaders in Congress to the White House urging them to frame a tariff law that would be in the national interest. This particular development elicited from Dr. Wilson warm expressions of approval and prompted a comment on the Rooseveltian attitude toward Congress.

"Whatever else we may think or say of Theodore Roosevelt," remarked Dr. Wilson, "we must admit that he was an aggressive leader. He led Congress —he was not driven by Congress. We may not approve of his methods but we must concede that he made Congress follow him."

Two years later when Woodrow Wilson had been inaugurated Governor of New Jersey after a campaign that was full of cynicysm about the "schoolmaster in politics," the professor tried out his theory on the members of the state legislature. The Democrats had called a caucus to adopt a legislative program. No one ever had thought of having the Governor present at such a meeting. But Mr. Wilson attended. It precipitated a debate as to the propriety of his presence there. One of the speakers insisted that the Executive of the state had no business in a conference of members of the legislature. Someone proposed that the Governor be formally invited by resolution. Mr. Wilson did not share the opinion that a conference of his party colleagues was such a formal affair that the leader of the party could not drop in if he care to do so. Finally he rose to speak.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I have been elected Governor of New Jersey by the people of New Jersey, selected by th convention of the Democratic party and I thereby have become the responsible leader of the Democratic party in the State. I will be held responsible by the people at the polls. I will be held rsponsible for the administration of the affairs of the State of New Jersey. Each of you gentlemen will be held responsible in the districts where you were elected. I am held responsible as well as you by the same people. I am the only person in the whole state however to express approval or disapproval on behalf of all the people and I will express that approval or disapproval for the people by determining what we should do."

The Governor took from his inside pocket a comprehensive program he had personally typewritten. It was a very far reaching program providing among other things for the passage of a Corrupt Practices Act governing elections, a law to authorize cities to adopt the commission form of government, and a series of proposals to reform the corporation laws of New Jersey. The Governor was on his feet arguing or answering questions for nearly three hours with the result that the conference unanimously adopted his program and within a few months thereafter the suggestions were enacted into law.

In those days the state legislature elected United States Senators. The primary system had been introduced as a means of expressing party desires but was not yet binding upon the party organization. James E. Martine had entered the primaries for the senatorial nomination but the leaders were inclined to regard the primary as purely advisory and not mandatory. Woodrow Wilson could not have been nominated by the state convention for governor in 1910 but for the support of former U. S. Senator James Smith and his henchmen. Indeed, while Woodrow Wilson as candidate had made no promises—the politicians accused him of base ingratitude when he later turned on Smith, the very man who had made his entry into public life possible. But Governor Wilson stood by the primary and persuaded the state legislature to do likewise. He felt that the wishes of the people expressed in a specific way at an election could not be disregarded. It cost him a friendship and won him in later years not even the uninterrupted support of the man whom he had helped into the U. S. Senate for Mr. Martine frequently departed from the leadership of President Wilson.

The Martine affair however was but an incident. It emphasized merely that Woodrow Wilson felt the weight of his responsibility as party leader. On becoming a state executive, he practiced in office what he had preached in college. It caught the imagination of Democrats throughout the United States and helped immeasurably in bringing him to the front as a candidate for the presidency of the United States.

(Tomorrow's chapter tells how Wilson's theory of leadership led him to contemplate resigning the Presidency of the United States when his policies were threatened with defeat.)

THE GOOD SALESMAN—No. 11

The GOOD SALESMAN is healthy.

Some firms prescribe regular courses of exercise for keeping their salesmen from getting groggy and going stale.

The healthy salesman is ever on the go for he is in the pink of condition. The world tastes good to him.

But fatigue will get him, though he be the strongest in his lot. Hunger will get him. He must sleep. He must eat.

Thus the want ad becomes the super-salesman of them all. He is a little fellow, not at all robust. But he never, never sleeps. He needs no time off for meals. His head never aches.

Once launched upon his work, he never rests till it is finished. Night and day he is calling, calling, calling—for you.

County Court to Make the Tax Levy May 5

Board of Appeals to Sit Monday to Hear Changes in Valuation Made by Equalization Board

The County Court will meet on May 5 for the purpose of fixing the levy on all taxable property in Nodaway County for the 1924 taxes, it was announced at the County Clerk's office this morning.

The levy for the year 1923, was 20 cents a hundred valuation for county purposes, 10 cents a hundred valuation for special road and bridge purposes and 5 cents a hundred valuation for township purposes. The road bond levy for all townships having road bonds will also be fixed at this time.

All the township assessment books have not been completed by the County Clerk's office since the county board of equalization met and Fred Wright, deputy clerk, said this morning he would not know until next week whether the total valuation in the county had been changed any by the county board of equalization from the amount recommended by the state board of equalization.

The judges of the county court, Charles Walker, Charles Armstrong and E. T. Bailey, with the county surveyor, George S. Miller, Augustus Romasser, deputy sheriff, W. O. Garrett, mayor of Maryville and George Merk, city assessor of Maryville, will meet Monday as a board of appeals to hear all persons not satisfied with the changes in valuations as made by the county board of equalization.

The board has power to assess treble the amount of taxes in case that a false list of property is reported by any property according to section 12772 of the revised statute of 1919.

Drink Water If Kidneys Bother

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Pains or Bladder is Irritated

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids; to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Conductor Sims Free of Nineteen Years Trouble

One of the most remarkable statements in connection with Karnak, the sensational new medicine that is being so widely discussed here, was made a few days ago by Mr. William Sims, 771 West Elm Street, Springfield, Mo. Mr. Sims is the popular conductor on the Florida Special, crack passenger train on the Frisco between Kansas City and Memphis and numbers his friends by the thousands.

"I would not take a block of the best business property in Springfield for the good Karnak has done me," declared Mr. Sims. "For over nineteen years I suffered day and night from rheumatism and although I spent a small fortune on treatments and faithfully took the baths at Hot Springs nothing helped me. I finally got so I could not even walk or stand on my feet and of course I had to give up my run. It looked like my usefulness was about ended.

"But Karnak has knocked my rheumatism sky high and built me up to where I feel as fine as a fiddle. The medicine has simply been a godsend to me, and if anybody wants this statement verified let them write me or call me."

The statement of Mr. Sims is typical of the hundreds being made every day by those who have experienced the remarkable health-restoring qualities of this sensational new medicine.

Karnak is sold in Maryville by Maryville Drug Co.—Adv.
